Why Use a Lobbyist?

"Corporations don't lobby Congress for fun. They lobby because it helps their bottom line."

Alex Blumberg, "Forget Stocks or Bonds, Invest in a Lobbyist"

What's Your Specific Need? We Can Get It Done!

What do you need to happen at the federal government level to enable your organization to achieve its strategic business objectives? Here's a sampling of what we can do for you:

- Target and enable executive branch contracts, grants and other funding opportunities.
- Serve clients to enable Congressional support, through the legislative appropriations process, for client products and services.
- Mitigate regulatory, legislative, and policy hurdles.
- Create new or modify existing administrative policies or regulations.
- Target, monitor, introduce, enact, and modify government legislation in support of client business models and funding targets.
- Create public and private partnerships as necessary for successful programs.
- Create and assist in the development of marketing plans and proposals.
- Produce product demos with members of Congress and staff, including site visits.
- Create new procedures that allow for the use of new technologies.
- And more.

Case Study: Rapid DNA Act

On behalf of one of our clients, The CONSILIO Group enabled passage into law of the "Rapid DNA Act of 2017," with cross-cutting benefits for bringing violent criminals to justice and exonerating the innocent.

About Us

The CONSILIO Group consists of Government relations and Government affairs specialists who work extensively in the legislative, regulatory, technology, program, and campaign arenas. CONSILIO is proud to support the business models and outreach goals of our clients through focused and strategic U.S. government outreach and support. We build on our long-standing existing relationships and build new ones as personnel at the Administration and Congress changes. CONSILIO provides proven results ranging from enacting enabling legislation to highest level Congressional and Administration meetings – we close the deal on behalf of our clients.
